NEW YORK, Dec. 4. (AP)—John Paul Farrell, an unemployed streetcar bus conductor, confessed today that he had killed Mrs. Bernard Herman Sinyel, 41, by means of a couple of lead rods and that, by similar means, he had caused the death of Mrs. Helen Taylor a year ago, and attempted the life of Judge Isaac A. Boardman of the Federal bench here last March. Farrell was held tonight in a charge of murder for the killing of Mrs. Sinyel.

Although the police are convinced the man is mentally unbalanced, Deputy Commissioner Dougherty said tonight detectives he had sent out to investigate the case have learned enough to lead him to believe Farrell's startling story is true in its essentials, though false in many details.

Every time Farrell had a grievance, he seems to have settled the business with a bomb. The trouble with Mx.

Herrera, he said, was that she "fired" him from his job as janitor and hired a negro in his place. He wanted to get Judge Kosasky out of the way because the jurist had sentenced Joseph Harvey, a "pal," to serve 25 years in Sing Sing for stealing $15 worth of jewelry. Carrón told the Killed Own Daughter.

Why Farrell wanted to kill the Tax collector—sometimes known as "Boss Walker"—was more than the police could fathom. In his early story, Farrell said she was his daughter.
Having disposed of the bomb mystery, Farrell confessed, the police assert, to having perpetrated a series of robberies in Brooklyn, and the robbery of the Johnson home. Harvey and Harry Hartman, his companions in the latter exploit, were sentenced to Sing Sing for 29 years and nine years, respectively.
Farrell never had been suspected of complicity in the crime. Daugherty said Farrell had served 19 years in the New Jersey penitentiary for burglary and other crimes. As John McDermott, alias "Liverpool Jack," Farrell's picture is in the museum gallery in Jersey City, according to information brought to Dougherty.

Doubt Man's Sanity.

Farrell's desire to confess so many crimes led Dougherty to doubt his sanity. He immediately set about verifying the story. While detectives were

CARMENT WORKERS REJECT UNION PLAN

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Settlement agreements negotiated in two branches of the clothing makers strike, which has been in force since early January, were rejected today by representatives of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' union, and of the workers in the dress, clothing trade. Both agreements tentatively provided for increases of 20 per cent in wages and shorter hours.

Garment workers in other branches of the industry will begin voting tomorrow as to the acceptance of the settlement proposed by officers of the union and representatives of the United Manufacturers and Merchants association, providing for a sliding scale of wage increase. It is reported that many workers secretly are opposing this settlement and may be sufficiently numerous to defeat it. About 50,000 strikers will be affected by the result of this action.

Harvard Students Not Averse to Any Kind Honest Work

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Feb. 4.—There are many students at Harvard college who will turn their hands to anything that is honest, in order to gain an education. This is shown in the report of the secretary of the Harvard bureau for appointments, made public today, which lists 1,960 students as working to pay their way.

The employment is varied. Printers, "navies," "fakers" at country fairs, telegraph operators, newspaper reporters, clothing and other salesmen, waiters, dish washers, ice men, street car conductors, newsboys, teachers, brown tail men, killers and private secretaries, featuring some of those who also are students.

It is claimed that the proportion of men working their way through is greater at Harvard than at any other college in the country.

Several weeks ago the navy department at Washington announced that the bathtub, which had been rejected by Havana, would be presented to the first city making application.

Mayor Hoffer immediately asked that the tub be awarded to St. Joseph and before the end of the day he was advised that St. Joseph should receive it. Then the mayor asked the council to pay for shipping the tub. The council refused, saying that the mayor's action already had brought the city into undesirable notoriety.

The report declared that 15,000,000 persons throughout the country daily attend moving picture exhibitions and are "exposed to danger from fires and unbridled displays."

GOV. WILSON FAVORS CHANGE IN PRIMARY LAWS OF NEW JERSEY

PRINCETON, N. J., Feb. 4.—President-elect Wilson declared himself today in favor of a radical change in the primary laws of New Jersey to be applied not only to the nominations for United States senators, but the governorship as well. A bill is being prepared, he said, modeled after the Wisconsin system which was championed before its adoption by Senator La Follette. It would amend the present law to permit second choice voting. A majority would be required to nominate rather than a plurality.

The president-elect had another invitation today to visit the Panama canal before it is opened to navigation. Col. W. C. Gorgas, a member of the isthmian canal commission, and health officer of the zone, called on Governor Wilson and asked him to see the canal.

"I certainly hope to get to see this summer," said Mr. Wilson.

OHIO RIVER PACKET SINKS; ALL ESCAPE

CALLIPOLIS, O., Feb. 4.—Rumpling her bow into Bear Trap pier in the darkness, early today, the packet steamer City of Parkersburg sank in deep water in the Ohio river. Thirty panic-stricken passengers and members of the crew managed to get to shore and kept from freezing by building fires of driftwood. The boat, which is owned by the Pittsburgh & Cincinnati Packet company, valued at $25,000, had a capacity cargo. Both boat and cargo probably will be a total loss. The steamer Greenland struck the same pier but managed to avoid disaster and was put in dry dock at Point Pleasant, W. Va.

Homely and Aged Faces Now Easily Beautified

(Just Start in Woman's Realm.)
I have heard the blindest woman made beautiful and the complexion of good-looking women improved. I've seen millian faces made young and healthy. I've seen old women's faces made spotless, white and young in less than two weeks, by a very simple and harmless process that acts almost like a miracle. This is "GETS-IT." Ordinary marjorized wax, propylene glycol and other things (which do) is applied nightly. Like a magic wand, it washes off wrinkles. This gradually peels off the lifeless particles of surface skin, permitting the underlying skin to show itself. The newer, fresher skin, when wholly in evidence, forms a complexion which for beauty and youthfulness is incomparable with any produced by other means. A complexion so natural, so free from artificiality, no one guesses the secret of its acquirement. You'll not regret trying this really marvelous treatment.

"GETS-IT" is the famous axolotl formula, for removing wrinkles. Once once powdered axolotl is dissolved in a half pint white hazel. Batching the face in this mixture, exfoliating, finer lines gradually even the deeper furrows and crowd's feet vanish completely. Adv.

CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—An irresistible fondness for whisky resulted in the capture by the police of William Littner, a burglar, early today. Finally he lay down in a chair, with a basket filled with "swag" by his side and fell fast asleep. He was awakened by the jolting of the patron wagon en route to the station. "HELLO" OVER PHONE TABOOED BY EVANSTON

EVANSTON, Ill., Feb. 4.—Many residents of Evanston have placed the stamp of disapproval on the word "hello" as a salutation over the telephone. Girls in the telephone exchange say that the word is considered "vulgar."

"Good morning," "good afternoon" or "good evening" have taken the place of the shorter and handier word as a form of greeting.

"It is seldom that I ever hear a 'hello' anywhere," said a girl in the telephone manager's office last night. "In the course of a day I call the homes of many society women and in almost every instance I am answered with the greeting 'good afternoon' or 'how do you do?'"

Gary issued a statement saying: "Beginning February 1, the Oliver company will make a voluntary readjustment of wages. The rates for surface labor will be advanced from $2.40 to $2.25 per day. There will be adjustment of the rates in other classifications of labor, both surface and underground, so that the same principle will give the highest percentage of increase to the lower-priced employees."

Prolonged Defense

Military men, however, who know something about the general lines of the defense of Adrianople, are of the opinion that the Bulgars have been fighting since the way here is complicated with and supported by other lines of forts just as strong back for a prolonged defense by the beleaguered garrison, which comprises about the best of the Turkish regular troops. This opinion is apparently prevalent within Adrianople itself.

DANDRUFF CAME ALL OVER HEAD

Terrible Itching and Burning. Hair Came Out by the Combful. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Entirely Cured in Three Weeks.

1842 N. Illinois St., Indianapolis, Ind.—"Spots of dandruff about the size of a quarter came all over my head. There was a terrible itching and burning under the dandruff and if I attempted to comb it off my head would bleed and get sore. There were small pustules under the dandruff and would bleed when I combed my hair. The dandruff would also when I combed my hair. My hair came out by the combful. I tried sulfate of copper and three weeks later I was still no better. I heard of Cuticura and I tried one of the advertisements for Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I bought a box of Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Soap and shampooed my head and rubbed over it with Cuticura Ointment. At the end of three weeks I was entirely cured. Now I have more and more hair than I ever had in my life. Cuticura Soap and Ointment permanently relieved my trouble." (Signed) Mrs. W. K. Rhoads, May 11, 1912.

THE LAND BILL

THE proposition that the City of Colorado Springs should own all of the water which originates in the Pikes Peak watershed for the further increase and protection of its domestic supply, is so obvious as to be undisputed, except by a few persons whose private interests are affected. Indeed, the City has been trying, after a fashion, for many years to correct the mistake made in the early days when the men at the head of its affairs neglected to secure possession of the needed land and water rights. But as usual foresight was not as good as hindsight, and there were few who really believed that Colorado Springs would ever really need so much water. Now all of us know that the future growth of the Pikes Peak region is limited chiefly by its water supply, and that the City would have not a drop too much if it owned every stream hereabouts which is capable of domestic use.

For these reasons the passage by the Senate last Monday of the bill which gives the City the right to the use of 15,000 acres of mountain land is a matter of unusual importance. It virtually assures the final enactment of the measure, which has already passed the House in a slightly different form. Although the City does not receive title to the land, the effect is almost the same, for it is given the right to fence and police it, thus guarding against pollution of the streams, and use it for any other purposes incident to the augmentation of the water supply. Necessarily large sums must be spent in the development of this tract, and when this is done the City will be so firmly entrenched in its possession of the property that no future Congress will be likely to withdraw the privileges just granted.

VOLUNTARY BANKRUPTCY

ONE of the most important, and incidentally one of the most abused laws passed by Congress during the last century relating to commerce, is the National Bankruptcy Law, enacted in 1898. The law provides both for voluntary and involuntary bankruptcy, and, generally speaking, the latter part of the law is not satisfactory. But that portion relating to voluntary bankruptcy, while evidently framed in all sincerity, has been so abused as to become a most vicious measure.

Its workings have not been so bad with regard to corporations, but deliberate frauds have been committed in countless instances by individuals, behind the shield of "voluntary bankruptcy." The law was intended to help honest men who, handicapped by debts they are unable to pay, may declare themselves insolvent, gave a list of all assets and liabilities, turn over their assets to be divided pro rata among their creditors, and begin their business life over again.

The weak points of this law are evident at a glance. There is nothing to prevent anybody from running into debt to any amount—he may buy necessities and luxuries to his heart's content, wherever he can get credit, and all he has to do is to apply the whitewash of "voluntary bankruptcy," and presto change!—the slate is wiped clean. He doesn't owe a cent, in the eyes of the law, although creditors from Maine to California may be "holding the sack." True, the law provides that all his assets must be turned over, but unless he has property or chattels (and a fraudulent debtor may easily transfer all valuable assets secretly), this clause of the law might as well have been omitted.

NUMEROUS INSTANCES OF INJUSTICE

right here in Colorado Springs show the great injustice of the measure. Among the voluntary bankrupts, by far the great majority are persons with little or no assets, although their liabilities in some cases run up into the thousands. Their creditors are thus deprived forever of all legal claim against them, even though these debtors later become able to pay. So flagrant has been the evasion of just debts, not only here but all over the country, that many honest debtors have refrained from taking advantage of the law, because of the stigma attached through it to their names.

Only the other day a public official in Denver went into voluntary bankruptcy, placing his liabilities at something like $18,000, and his assets at $1400. A Colorado Springs merchant recently discovered that a man who had gone into voluntary bankruptcy while owing him a large bill, had neglected to file this bill among his liabilities when he became a bankrupt. This made the bill collectible, and the merchant, writing to the debtor, who has been discharged from bankruptcy, declared that he would take steps to collect the bill if payment were not forthcoming. The debtor replied to the effect that he was sorry to have overlooked any bill in his former application, but that he intended shortly to enter bankruptcy again, and would be sure to include all bills in his second application. Just think of it! And the law backs him up. A person may take advantage of the present law not often than once in six years.

The law as applied to corporations works reasonably well, because most business firms have tangible assets, and it is much more just for a financially embarrassed corporation owing many creditors, to give up its entire assets for pro rata distribution, than to assign to a preferred creditor, giving nothing to the others.

GENERAL PROCEDURE OF THE LAW

Any person desiring a municipal, railroad, insurance or banking corporation, is entitled to the benefits of the voluntary bankruptcy law. The procedure is to apply to the United States District Court of his district. The court after adjudication of bankruptcy refers the matter to the referee before whom the administration of the estate, if any, is had. On the referee's report, the federal court may grant or refuse the application of the bankrupt for discharge. Assets—if there are any—must be devoted to the payment of debts in the following order: Taxes, expenses of preserving estate, filing fees, cost of administration, wages earned within three months, but no more than $300 to each claimant; debts entitled by law to preference; and finally, unsecured debts.

The applicant may apply for discharge from bankruptcy after one month and within 12 months subsequent to the adjudication, or if unavoidably prevented from applying sooner, he has, upon leave given by the court, six months' additional time. Certain restrictions surround the entire procedure, intended to protect creditors from dishonest debtors, but the ease with which property may be secretly transferred tends to make these precautions inoperative in many cases. After he is discharged, the former bankrupt is absolutely free from debt, legally speaking. He may after six years repeat the legal absolution again, if his debts become pressing, and about the only way business men can protect themselves is to refuse him credit. Commerce is based on credit, however, all over the world. The seller gives credit, generally speaking, until he suspects that the buyer is a fraud. And it is a bad law that thus deals such a strong blow at credit. If the abuses of the voluntary bankruptcy law continue, credit in the United States will become less and less in vogue.

COLORADO AT THE WORLD'S FAIR

YESTERDAY the State of Massachusetts took formal possession of the site of the building which it will erect at the San Francisco world's fair. This suggests that it is time for Colorado to busy herself with preparations for this important event. People with good memories may recall that ten years ago the commission appointed to put up a building, prepare exhibits and otherwise represent this State at the St. Louis exposition got so hopelessly muddled that it finally failed to put up any building at all, and Colorado alone among the Louisiana Purchase states was compelled to scatter its exhibits among the various exposition buildings devoted to special purposes.

Colorado ought to have one of the finest state buildings at the San Francisco fair, and the site should be selected early enough to secure an advantageous location. It will not do to delay this matter until all of the best sites have been taken.

College Professors
 By GEORGE FITCH
 Author of "At Good Old Siwash"

There are two kinds of college professors. One kind teaches things, and the other kind teaches people. The college professor who teaches things tends to be a bookish and pedantic old soul, who knows a great deal of things, but who is not very human. The college professor who teaches people is a young man or woman, who is full of life and energy, and who is able to make his subject come alive. The college professor who teaches things is a man of letters, and the college professor who teaches people is a man of letters who is also a man of life.

He wears a cap and gown and leaves his umbrella on the street car.

past has provided and then begins trying to do the future and discharging huge masses of unassimilated information. He is the explorer of bibliography, the skinner of superlatives and the and leader of the parade. In all parts of the world professors are leading human knowledge by the hand to unknown regions and introducing it to new elements, strange and fancy, of molecules and reds for prosperity, which have lain undisturbed since man first began to write around the earth and make a loud and initial noise. The college professor is a being whose ordinary human qualities extend to the end of the life beyond which he is always at work with blinding power. A college professor was the first man to peer through the west and collar bones of a personal friend by the aid of the X-rays. Out in Iowa and Kansas college professors have established an aristocracy of open which has enabled the farmer to earn an automobile per year apiece. A Boston professor discovered the method of shipping conversation by wire. Another professor began to study politics some years ago and will soon move into the White House against the express will of a large number of practical politicians in order to pursue his investigations further. And he will not be the first college professor to occupy the White House.

Many people have at the college professor because he wears a cap and gown and leaves his umbrella on the street car. But the real college professor is so far ahead of the laughter in wisdom that when he tries to talk to them they have to hire interpreters to cut his remarks down into words of six syllables.

NEW MEXICO WOULD HAVE STATE TAX COMMISSION

SANTA FE, N. M., Feb. 4.—Agitation for a modern method of taxation in the new state of New Mexico resulted today in the introduction of a bill of State Senator W. B. Walton, of Grant county, providing for a tax commission to consist of one member of the state board of equalization to be named by the governor, a member of the state senate to be named by the lieutenant governor and a member of the house to be named by the speaker and two citizens of the state at large to be named by the governor.

This commission as provided in the Walton bill was advocated by the state bar association and the bill has the endorsement of the attorneys of the state. The bill would give the commission power to compel the attendance of witnesses. The commission would report to the next legislative session.

State Senator A. J. Evans introduced a bill this morning forbidding the marriage of Catholics and negroes or Mongolians in New Mexico and making all such marriages void. The bill carries a provision that persons who leave the state for the purpose of evading a law and subsequently return shall be subject to its provisions as though married in the state.

When the senate meets tomorrow morning, State Senator Isaac Barnard of Bernardo county will introduce a bill that has resulted from statewide agitation for the preservation of the mission ruins of the Franciscan friars in the days of Spanish occupation. The bill provides that all such ruins shall become the property of the state, shall be kept in preservation by the state and made public parks for the benefit of the people of the United States without charge. These parks shall be known as "quadrangle mission parks."

So great has been the interest shown in the display of Wallace Nutting pictures that we have prevailed on Miss Tweed to continue the exhibit one more day.

This is undoubtedly the best chance of the year to order good pictures.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

A bill presented to the legislature by B. L. Smith, state senator from Costilla and Huerfano counties, recalled an interesting bit of early history. In 1862 a band of outlaws ander the leadership of two Mexicans named Espinosa was terrorizing the southern part of the state and they offered a reward of $200 for their capture, dead or alive. An old scout named Thomas L. Tomlinson brought his band into Fort Garland in a gunny sack, but for some reason never got the reward and Spang's bill was for the purpose of paying it to him. It is supposed that the corpse which gave Dead Man's name, between here and Canon City, was that of one of these outlaws, his name as they are mentioned in the north as the Pass.

A bill presented to the legislature by B. L. Smith, state senator from Costilla and Huerfano counties, recalled an interesting bit of early history. In 1862 a band of outlaws ander the leadership of two Mexicans named Espinosa was terrorizing the southern part of the state and they offered a reward of $200 for their capture, dead or alive. An old scout named Thomas L. Tomlinson brought his band into Fort Garland in a gunny sack, but for some reason never got the reward and Spang's bill was for the purpose of paying it to him. It is supposed that the corpse which gave Dead Man's name, between here and Canon City, was that of one of these outlaws, his name as they are mentioned in the north as the Pass.

A number of residents and business men of the city, including the city clerk, were invited to a social gathering at the home of Mrs. J. W. D. Stovel, who had recently been appointed to the office, assumed his duties as clerk of the district court.

The weather moderated considerably but it was still very cold and people did not have to go out were staying indoors.

So great has been the interest shown in the display of Wallace Nutting pictures that we have prevailed on Miss Tweed to continue the exhibit one more day.

"DUTY IS A SOCIAL OBLIGATION," PALMER

Harvard Exchange Professor Gives Talk Before Large Audience in Bemis Hall

Duty is a social obligation, according to Prof. George Herbert Palmer, exchange professor from Harvard university, who gave the first of his lectures on "The Problem of Duty" before the senior class at Colorado college yesterday morning. The seniors were far outnumbered by visitors, however, who came in such numbers that the large reception hall in Bemis hall was crowded.

Professor Palmer, sharply contrasted goodness and duty. Both are essential to righteousness, he declared, but the former has reference only to the individual, while the latter relates to the individual's connection with society. One is subjective, the other objective.

"Goodness ministers to the welfare of the individual; duty enlarges us," he said. "That is good which is for our highest advantage; that which is right is prescribed by a law higher than ourselves, to which we must conform; it is our duty to others."

He holds to the idea that the individual is a free agent and can choose either right or wrong, but he did not go into the subject of determinism. He said, there are three aspects of duty: objectivity, universality, authority.

"Duty is always objective," he declared. "It is not created by ourselves; it is something that is put upon us. It is never hypothetical. It does not exist for the individual. No one is a unit, apart from all others. The existence of any individual presupposes at least three persons: the father, the mother, the child. An independent individual, therefore, is impossible. All are interdependent. Duty expresses our obligations towards those others with whom we are tied-in."

Duty is universal. It is not defined by its application to the individual; it expresses a network of obligations; it applies to all individuals alike. There are certain aspects of life common to all, to which we must adjust ourselves. I should do only those things in my own case that I am willing to sanction in everybody else. In my own particular act I must recognize the universal act. We shall have no conscience-qualms. As a friend of mine expressed it, "We can't choose duty."

"Duty is authoritative. We can conform to it or not, but we cannot change law. I do not make myself; I am only part of a whole. It is society that makes me. I come into a world where I find literature, transportation, all the devices of civilization—awaiting my use. Society, which makes me, can command me. I take my part in a personally organized world, which is the author of me and of all men. Still I bend this world to my own purpose. Somehow I must adjust myself to it, for I cannot exist if I cut myself off from it. Duty is the call of the whole to its parts; not my will, but the will of the whole, must be done. And this whole represents the authority of God."

AMICABLE SETTLEMENT ISABELLA CONTROVERSY

An amicable settlement of the factional fights that have been the feature of meetings for the last three years over the affairs of the Isabella Mining company, has been perfected, according to John T. Hawkins, personal representative of James F. Burns, and who returned last night from Cheyenne, Wyo., where he attended the annual meeting of the company. With the election of Hawkins and Ira Harris to the board, and with R. M. Carson, another member of the board, fighting the old management, consisting of E. E. Quintin and E. M. Kirtan, the Burns element is now in control of the mining company.

The directors will meet here, probably Friday, for the election of officers, and Mr. Hawkins announced last night that no slate is arranged by any faction. Quintin is now president of the company. Mr. Hawkins would not make any statement as to the probability of his becoming a general manager of the company.

MINE OWNERS ADOPT "SAFETY-FIRST" SLOGAN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—The "safety-first" slogan which is being taken up rapidly by the mine operators of the country has resulted in the formation of a society to be known as the American Mine Safety Association, with headquarters at Fort Leitch and Butler streets, Pittsburgh, Pa.

CHANGES IN SUPPLIES NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Special cable and telegraphic communications received by Bradstreet's show the following changes in available supplies as compared with previous accounts: Wheat, United States east of Rockies, decreased 100,000 bushels.

MONEY ON CALL NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Money on call steady, 2 1/2 per cent. ruling rate. 2 1/2 per cent. closing bid, 2 1/2 per cent. offered at 2 1/2 per cent.

Many Killed Annually. "There were 2,719 persons killed in the coal mines of the United States during the year 1911 and there were 4,100 seriously and 2,233 slightly injured. Nearly an equal number of men were injured in metal mines and quarries."

Costly to Mine Owners. "Mine operators now realize that it is more expensive to restore wrecked mines, more costly to fight damage suits through the courts, and less profitable to pay regulated liability charges or even workmen's compensation, than it is to bear the cost involved in reducing these charges by means of diminishing the number of accidents and the duration of the resulting disability by the adoption of improved safety, rescue and first-aid methods."

Other Schools Start. Other schools started, notably by Mrs. Baldwin in Boulder, the Misses Woodson in the same city, Miss Gertrude Howe and Miss Lucy Hoag in Klunking, Miss Porter and Miss Brown in Peking, Miss Downing in Chefoo, Mrs. Bridgeman in the same city, and the Shanghai Girls' school. For a long time it was necessary to feed, clothe and pay girls in order to get them into the schools, and the membership was made up of foundlings and orphans. It was not until 1883 that the gradual enthusiasm of Chinese parents warranted authorities in suggesting that they support their own children while they were in school. The parents willingly did so, and now they even pay small fees for tuition and the girls have high industrial work in the curriculum, the proceeds going toward the support of the schools. The school work itself has also advanced. From lace-making and Bible study it has developed into general primary, secondary and college courses. The Presbyterian school for girls, in activities. Those Bad Spells

Lebanon, Mo., Feb. 4.—Mrs. Minnie Lamb, of this place, says: "I believe I would have been dead by now, had it not been for Cardui. I haven't had one of those bad spells since I commenced to use this medicine." Cardui is a specific medicine for the bile from which women suffer. Made from harmless, vegetable ingredients, Cardui is a safe, reliable remedy, and has been successfully used by weak and ailing women for more than fifty years. Thousands of women have been helped back to health and happiness by its use. Why not profit by their experience? A trial will convince you that Cardui is just what you need.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE—Arrangements have been completed for a lecture in Christian Science by Rev. William McKennie, C. S. B., of Cambridge, Mass. This lecture is to be delivered Sunday evening, February 9, at 8 o'clock in the Princess theater, under the auspices of the local church. These lectures are usually given once or twice a year by each Christian Science organization to correct erroneous conceptions about Christian Science, and to give the general public a clearer idea of what this great religion really means to humanity. No charge is being made for admission, and the public is most cordially welcomed. Mr. McKennie is an experienced, capable speaker, thoroughly at home with his subject, and a man of deep convictions and a clear grasp of the blessings Christian Science is bringing to mankind.

MARRIAGE—William A. McAllister and Mrs. Jennie Chapman were married Monday evening at the home of J. M. Miller, 197 South Nevada avenue, the Rev. J. S. Wilson officiating. The

HELPED MOVE WOMAN'S FURNITURE; ARRESTED
 H. B. Spingmeyer was arrested yesterday by Constable Patton on a charge of disturbing the peace, and was released under $200 bonds for appearance in Justice Dunnigan's court tomorrow morning.

Spingmeyer is a neighbor of Mrs. E. A. Sommers, in an apartment building at 214 East Pike's Peak avenue. Mrs. Sommers, it is said, was ordered by the agent of the building to vacate her apartments, February 1, and refused to comply. Yesterday an employee of the agent appeared on the scene and, as he began to move Mrs. Sommers' household effects into the back yard, Spingmeyer gave him assistance. It is said, because Spingmeyer interfered against her, Mrs. Sommers had him arrested on a charge of disturbing the peace.
